

Three Dialogues

1. A Dialogue of Juno, Venus, Pallas and Paris

Lbl Add. MS 11608

John Hilton

Juno (1)

Rise, rise Prince-ly Shep-herd & bee Ar-bi-ter twixt three con-ten-ding God-des -

4

- ses. Quit feare and free - ly speake; which choy-sest beau-ty shall for vic-to-ry,

6

for vic-to-ry en-joy this Gol - den Ball? Paris

How can a syl-ly Earth-lings wand'-ring Eyes,

(1) bar 1, voice: an indistinct line possibly indicates a glissando to the upper note; it is clear however that there is a rest between the first two notes.